Sorry, but once my monkey Mark Morgan gets loose, he is like a rabid chimp spamming away at will. But soon he will fall asleep, and thus starts a new day in the life of the Mark Morgan, Usenet Moron and How is "assclown' sexually based. Oh excuse me for not thinking the way that you do, most everyone else does not view the ass as a sexual organ, or even a body part.

Nevertheless, to give you a reality check in line with the rest of the world.

Definition:

1. Assclown

One, who, through the fault of his parents conception, is a skid mark in society's collective underwear.

That Mark, pretty well sums it up. See no sex involved. Reverse homophobe.

well,
I can hook up mu computer to my rig (soundcard to mic, etc) and run a ham morse program in linux. However, I really need to be a general before I can transmit there. :(

still, since the FCC appears to be undermanned these days, volunteers can be very helpful.

what state did you say you were in?

anyway, if someone is using my call, better let the local office of the FCC know (file a report).

also, I tend to monitor there with a Shortwave Receiver and I haven't heard a thing locally (save for the CW beacons and some other cw traffic). skip has been real light lately.

I am a 20wpm Extra, I just can't stand CW! However, I could do it if I had to, but the more important point that someone else raised was unless the FCC let us use phone down there anything we do will be ineffective to shift the b*gg*rs! They can't understand CW, so anyone sending CW on top of them will simply be jamming, plus they can notch it out and go on talking.

HOW can you be so cruel as to spam the radio groups by using a ham's child who has departed this world as your "screen name"?

I hope Mr.Steve can forgive you.

heh.
that usually means they are paying top dollar for the expensive amateur gear to use in their trucks. That being the xase, perhaps having phone privs on a voluntary basis might prove useful.

one other problem (and its in the regs), we are not allowed to talk with unlicensed individuals that are operating on our licensed spectrum.
However, those same regs don't say we cannot be having a conversation with other amateurs right on top of the illegal users. we would be in the clear so far as the regulations are concerned.

still, I haven't heard anyone locally doing this in the last few months (perhaps the truckers/freebanders here are smarter that the average...).

OTOH the same regs do allow ONE way call to try and establish coms with lawfull station if we had phone on top of the intruders then we could could the station on the freq and ask them their call sign mentioning that this is a federaly licensed band I do that with a few intruders high enough for phone on 10

I have conitinued one when the response seemed to sugest the uer had a motived CB and di not know it was moded CB technicaly ilegalI suppose but given what else is knowingly allowed I think it rireasonable to tell the poor soul how to contact me off air

and help him out

The art of dick sucking cums naturally to marqueer monkeys, but the more masculine gav type chimps must be trained.

You can pick up your Monkey Boy at the Morgan residence in Chassell, Michigan. Although, beware of the unruly beast, he will try to bite it off, and then run to your computer to spam Usenet.

Top Ten Signs You Picked HughesNet as an ISP

10. Their company logo: Two tin cans on a piece string.

9. You check out their address, and it's a flop house in downtown Germantown, MD.

8. Their chief technical officer lives in a tar paper shanty at the Germantown dump.

7. Their proud boast: "We've been on the Internet since it was CB radio."

6. Their promo materials use the words "satellite" and "broadband" in the same sentence

5. You order a dish installation, email, and 1 GB of server space for your personal Web site, and the voice on the other end of the phone asks "Would you like crazy bread with that?"

4. "As seen in Better Business Bureau special reports."

3. "Access speeds up to 9,600 bps in most areas."

2. They hawk domain names on eBay.

1. Their CEO thinks that "binary" is a sexual orientation.

1) I was draft into the US Army.
2) I is a member of the Chemcal Cops
3) The military wont let me retire.
4) I dosn't serve under the name 'Mark Morgan but that's okay cuz the FBI, DOD, and CIA have all told me I indeed cando it.
5) I is on-the-lam from stalking former marines and fatal attraction four ex-shemale wife
6) I was recently, paying $5/hr. to access my ISP
7) I has a 248 IQ, but indeed can't figure out how to use a spell checker.
8) I is a bi-sexual Pagan male ham who like to be spanked.
9) I can't find any action on the military base in Central IL, so I hav to ask people on teh USENET.
10) I punce

Mark, do you really think that after going on a posting tirade, calling me a bunch of slanderous names, and then issuing your fake pathetic apology in the form of a lie, when you didn't even apologize or admit the truth of what you did, is complying with my request.
Obviously, attempting to give you the domain name is not going to work to quell this situation. Maybe if I see you act as though you have some sense for period of time, and not see anymore Dloyd tirades for a while, I will again attempt to give up the domain name. Maybe one day you will be a real man and admit that it was YOUR OWN bumbling which cause you to lose the domain name in the first place.

Don't hold your breath, Dloyd. And DO, by all means, hold on to that blog domain.
Mark won't apologize simply because he considers himself to be the ever set-upon victim in all of this. Let him whine and accuse you of blackmail.
Asking for a retraction/apology is more of a Gentleman's Agreement between two parties (with a bit of a reward thrown in as an incentive) than it is blackmail.
Of course Mark is known for twisting certain definitions to suit his complaint du juor and as such lacks credibility.
Heck. If Mark were to turn over a new leaf and play nice, I would be willing to bet that whoever used his XYL's call for a blog would be willing to relinquish that, as well.

This is not an apology to Dloyd for your statements/accusations. It is a cheap try, Mark, one easily seen through.

Care to try again?????

I believe that all of the blogs would eventually disapper if Mark would just "play nice", stay on topic, and stop with the inane "barrage the group" posting tactics. Frankly, IMO this NG has degraded to the point that it has even begun to attract flames from non-amateur related persons. Nevertheless, I predict no change from Mark whatsoever, but hell, maybe he will suprise me.

Roger may find this interesting, though he will never admit his blatant stupidity.

I was again on 20M this fine, late evening and had no problem carrying on a conversation with a Ham in Arizona. This at about 40 watts and shortly after midnight.
As you readers know, Roger, AB8MQ, persists in claiming that this is an impossiblilty. 20M, according to his learned experience, is simply not open in the late/early evening/morning hours.
Of course Mr. Un-Wiseman will respond in the, as usual, third person and challenge me to give callsigns and names, which will go ignored for obvious reasons. (no need to subject the Ham in question to Roger's stalking)

To put it in the vernacular that Mr. Wiseman uses, and I dislike lowering myself to his standards, Roger has yet again stumbled over his own little dick regarding this issue.

I am convinced that AB8MQ lives in an area that, due to being in a West Virginia "holler", is not conducive to receiving much, if anything, on 20 meters. Roger still maintains that if he cannot hear it, it doesn't happen.

Look for Roger to respond to this...again in the third person, and post his usual, unoriginal filthy comments.

Roger knows no better.

The "dumbing down" of Amateur Radio is very apparent.
Examples abound, especially on the area repeaters.

Case in point. How many Newbies with new HT's do you hear telling others that they are "full quieting" on a local repeater??
Duh!
And of course there are the Newbies who are unfamiliar with Simplex operations. What the heck is simplex? HT's are supposed to be programmed for all the local repeaters, right?

And if you Newbies can't get your new Radio Shack handlelds working right,.. take them back to Radio Shack so as to let the stupid sales person program it for you.

Two Meters these days ain't what it used to be.
I heard that, I did.

Apparently, HughesNet (kb9rqz's ISP) has had a major breakdown in Germantown, MD, and all satellite services are down. This weekend will serve as a perfect example of what happens when Mark is NOT around to Bottom line: No Mark, almost no problems.

Chris, stop lying on Mark "the eternal victum" Morgan. You know he is

I hooked up my 2950 today. I had barely turned it on when I heard a QRZ.
Tuned him in and was talking to Port City, FL on 28.310. He heard someone and made a comment that the frequency was in use and to stand by. My response was that if another station wants to get in, let them. I came from CB and CW should not have been a requirement for a license for years. It's something you can do or not. Who needs a test? If you can send and copy, you know CW.

I don't want CW to go away. I believe there should be a portion of each band

Oh, did you have a over the air sex session with Eric Oyen?

Know it all blowhard Assheil screws up again!

Especially when he claims this isn't the bottom of the 11 year solar cycle.

http://www.sec.noaa.gov/SolarCycle/ has graphs which show right now is the low portion of solar activity.

http://www.sec.noaa.gov/SolarCycle/SC24/PressRelease.html

NEXT SOLAR STORM CYCLE WILL START LATE
Experts Split Over Intensity

The next 11-year cycle of solar storms will most likely start next March and peak in late 2011 or mid-2012 - up to a year later than expected - according to a forecast issued today by NOAA's Space Environment Center in coordination with an international panel of solar experts.

Expected to start last fall, the delayed onset of Solar Cycle 24 stymied the panel and left them evenly split on whether a weak or strong period of solar storms lies ahead, but neither group predicts a record-breaker. The Space Environment Center led the prediction panel and issued the forecast at its annual Space Weather Workshop in Boulder. NASA sponsored the panel.

"The Space Environment Center's space weather alerts, warnings, and forecasts are a critical component of NOAA's seamless stewardship of the Earth's total environment, from the Sun to the sea," said retired Vice Adm. Conrad C. Lautenbacher, Ph.D., undersecretary of commerce for oceans and atmosphere and NOAA administrator.

During an active solar period, violent eruptions occur more often on the Sun. Solar flares and vast explosions, known as coronal mass ejections, shoot energetic photons and highly charged matter toward Earth, jolting the planet's ionosphere and geomagnetic field, potentially affecting power grids, critical military and airline communications, satellites, Global Positioning System signals, and even threatening astronauts with harmful radiation. These same storms illuminate night skies with brilliant sheets of red and green known as auroras, or the northern or southern lights.

Solar cycle intensity is measured in maximum number of sunspots - dark blotches on the Sun that mark areas of heightened magnetic activity. The more sunspots there are, the more likely it is that major solar storms will occur.

In the cycle forecast issued today, half of the panel predicts a moderately strong cycle of 140 sunspots, plus or minus 20, expected to peak in October of 2011. The other half predicts a moderately weak cycle of 90 sunspots, plus or minus 10, peaking in August of 2012. An average solar cycle ranges from 75 to 155 sunspots. The late decline of Cycle 23 has helped shift the panel away from its earlier leaning toward a strong Cycle 24. Now the group is evenly split between strong and weak.

"By giving a long-term outlook, we're advancing a new field-space climate-that's still in its infancy," said retired Air Force Brig. Gen. David L. Johnson, director of NOAA's National Weather Service. "Issuing a cycle prediction of the onset this far in advance lies on the very edge of what we know about the Sun."

Scientists have issued cycle predictions only twice before. In 1989, a panel met to predict Cycle 22, which peaked that same year. Scientists met again in September of 1996 to predict Cycle 23-six months after the cycle had begun. Both groups did better at predicting timing than intensity, according to Space Environment Center scientist Douglas Biesecker, who chairs the current panel. He describes the group's confidence level as "high" for its estimate of a March 2008 onset and "moderate" overall for the two estimates of peak sunspot number and when those peaks would occur.

One disagreement among the current panel members centers on the importance of magnetic fields around the Sun's poles as the previous cycle decays. End-cycle polar fields are the bedrock of the approach predicting a weak Cycle 24. The strong-cycle forecasters place more importance on other precursors extending over a several-cycle history. Another clue will be whether Cycle 24 sunspots appear by mid 2008. If not, the strong-cycle group might change their forecast.

The first year after solar minimum, marking the end of Cycle 23, will provide the information scientists need to arrive at a consensus. NOAA and the panel decided to issue their best estimate now and update the forecast as the cycle progresses, since Space Environment Center customers have been requesting a forecast for over a year.

"The panelists in each camp have clear views on why they believe in their prediction, why they might be wrong, and what it would take to change their minds," said Biesecker. "We're on the verge of understanding and agreeing on which precursors are most important in predicting future solar activity."

NOAA's Space Environment Center is the nation's first alert of solar activity and its affects on Earth. Just as NOAA's hurricane experts predict the upcoming season of Atlantic storms and forecast individual hurricanes, the agency's space weather experts issue outlooks for the next 11-year solar cycle and warn of storms occurring on the Sun that could impact Earth. Both the National Hurricane Center and Space Environment Center are among nine National Centers for Environmental Prediction, part of NOAA's National Weather Service. The Space Environment Center is also the world warning agency of the International Space Environment Service, a consortium of 11 member nations.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, an agency of the U.S. Commerce Department, is celebrating 200 years of science and service to the nation. From the establishment of the Survey of the Coast in 1807 by Thomas Jefferson to the formation of the Weather Bureau and the Commission of Fish and Fisheries in the 1870s, much of America's scientific heritage is rooted in NOAA.

NOAA is dedicated to enhancing economic security and national safety through the prediction and research of weather and climate-related events and information service delivery for transportation, and by providing environmental stewardship of our nation's coastal and marine resources. Through the emerging Global Earth Observation System of Systems (GEOSS), NOAA is working with its federal partners, more than 60 countries and the European Commission to develop a global monitoring network that is as integrated as the planet it observes, predicts and protects. The National Science Foundation sponsors the annual Space Weather Workshop.

Sadly, no. I'm wondering what a "motived" CB is, myself.
Mark has been asked time and time again to use a spell check, but he is far too lazy to do so. He's so busy flaming the groups that a spell check program would serve only get in his way.
Mark prefers quantity to quality.

And don't believe for a nanosecond that he is in any way acting as a humanitarian when he says, "I think it rireasonable to tell the poor soul
how to contact me off air and help him out"" The guy can't help himself, much less others.

Of course Roger is all too aware of the fact that I am NOT Mr. Heil. This has been pointed out to him on numerous occasions, so Roger, lacking for friends and entertainment outside of the Nim Busters board, posts this drivel in hopes of garnering a response, any response to his posts.

and you the truth if you intelligence shows itself for what it really is.... also, it appears I hit a nerve. feeling a little nervous that I might possibly find out who you really are?

between both teranews and usenetzone, you have a couple of strikes against you (both services operate servers within the Us and both were recently ordered under the CALEA (Communications Assistance in Law Enforcement Act) to retain logs of all activities (including those of yours). this also applies to all upstream providers who (for whatever reason) have infrastructure within the borders of the US or its various territories.

in any case, you are out of luck. you can be found (should I choose to spend the money to have you found). anonymous you are not. think about that for a while.

Bzzzzt! Wrong.

1. News.usenetzone.com is hosted by tucows in Toronto. Canadians don't think much of the Bush administration's heavy-handedness, so you can kiss that one goodbye.

2. Teranews is a rogue site in Osceola, IN which still advertises that it doesn't keep logs.

3. The law you attempted to invoke only applies to telephone conversations. ISPs became involved because of VoIP telephone services such as Vonage. It does not apply to servers like teranews, so teranews.com could not have been given such a blanket order legally.
Furthermore, the law and its extensions deal only with tapping such telephone conversations (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Communications_Assistance_for_Law_Enforcement_Act), a clear indication that you don't know what the hell you're talking about.

Sorry, Eric, you're not frightening anyone. Stop telling tall tales.

Not 100% true. They advertise they don't log what you read.

If you review their web site, you'll see nothing that states they do not log what you post or upload via your own news server.

ieSpell is a free Internet Explorer browser extension that spell checks text input boxes on a webpage. It should come in particularly handy for lazy, dyslexic users like Mark Morgan who do a lot of web-based text entry (e.g. web mails, forums, blogs, spam, flaming, etc.)

http://www.iespell.com/

a.. Completely standalone spell checker for your web browser. Does not require Microsoft Office or any other third party components.
a.. Integrates flawlessly with Internet Explorer and other IE based browsers.
a.. Three ways to start the spell check; via the right click context menu, the toolbar or the menu bar.

Sex & Relationships: Why do adolescent boys often leave empty seats between each other when they go to the movies? It's a product of the culture of male homophobia in America which pushes men to avoid intimacy and gay stereotypes.

Yes I have. Just because you disagree does not make it a lie.
However, you have done nothing but flood this NG with you spam and continue to bring up your personal issues "i is dyslexic", "i was raped" "my wife is bi", you were this, you were that. Why must you post so much personal garbage about yourself? What, didn't Mommie and Daddy give you enough attention?

3486. Element 4 - Extra Class Question Pool

Hello All,

Sorry for the OT post, but none of the other "rec.radio.amateur"
groups come any closer.

For the past 2 days, I've been "googling" until my eyes go crossed...

Several months ago, I found a "Microsoft Powerpoint" presentation for Element 4 - Extra Class License Question Pool. Somehow, it has gotten deleted and I can't find it anywhere on the Internet. Dang!

It was an interactive program which gave you the question and if you chose
the correct answer, it highlighted your response.

If you chose the wrong answer, it would highlight the correct one.

I have the book and the audio cassettes, all I need is to work the question
pool.

Now, I can find "PDF" question pools all over the place. I can even find Powerpoint programs for the Element 4 question pool, but they give you the answer right off the bat, with no thought on your part whatsoever. I want
to learn this, not just memorize answers to questions.

Do you know where I can I find the interactive Powerpoint Element 4 [Extra] Question Pool? One that makes you think and not give you a free pass!?

Have a great 4th my friends and many thanks for taking the time to respond!

Alain

ieSpell is a free Internet Explorer browser extension that spell checks text input boxes on a webpage. It should come in particularly handy for lazy, dyslexic users like Mark Morgan who do a lot of web-based text entry (e.g. web mails, forums, blogs, spam, flaming, etc.)

http://www.iespell.com/

a.. Completely standalone spell checker for your web browser. Does not require Microsoft Office or any other third party components.
a.. Integrates flawlessly with Internet Explorer and other IE based browsers.
a.. Three ways to start the spell check; via the right click context menu, the toolbar or the menu bar.

Mark, guess what. Nobody cares what you say but you. You might as well be talking to a wall because you haven't won anything. There is noting tangible here. LOL

Get a life buddy.

Nobody cares what you say, your in more killfiles than anyone. Mark, you are cheap entertainment, an oddity. I post you spam with your crazy logic. Your comical like a clown or monkey, where else can I say whatever, and have a grown man respond like a manic monkey. It's like playing with dirt, without getting your hands dirty. You are such a tool, aye. LOL

I've been crossposting a few of Mark's posts to alt.satellite.direcpc just to show them some of Mark's flames. I see that he carefully strips them from his responses, but leaves the other groups.

Apparently Markie doesn't wish to have any attention drawn to him in the Hughes group. This is because he is cognizant of the fact that he is violating their TOS.

This group was downright quiet and pleasant during the few days that Hughes
Net was down. This meant that Mark Morgan couldn't post here.
Unfortunately for us, he returned and this group has turned into a cesspool once again.

How bizarre, Mark why do you think rape is a joke?

Dloyd

3609. Mark keeps right on savoring his role in truning RRAP into a sexual NG, Mark's real agenda.

It is my understanding that most web site operators were contacted to take these types of study aids down, so Mark's attempts to upgrade to extra would be foiled.

What felony?

What confession?

I never said I contacted any web site operators.

However, if I did, its certainly no felony for me to write to them and say

"Hi, will you please take your study aid down so Mark Morgan can't use it to pass his Extra Class exam? Thank you!"

At what age were you diagnosed as mentally retarded, Mark?

Mark most certainly IS his own worst enemy.
Mark thrives on the comments that users post, and without the responses,
Mark will be left adrift.
Mark needs the attention. He cannot exist without it.
If you and I ignore Mark, he will be left without a forum.

irrelevant as some of there servers are actually located within US ip space (its not that hard to check). the parent registrar has very little to do with it other than providing access to the name->ip databases (and said IP's can be litterally anywhere).

they may advertise that, but "CALEA" still trumps that. they are required by law to keep logs as of 2 months ago. so. advertisements aside, if they don't want to be shut down, they have to log. now, if they decide to lie to the rest of the world (at government insistence, of course) then there is not much to do other than to not use them.

and yet equipment has been installed at most ISP's here within the United states fpr the express purposes of monitoring internet and data related traffic (this law does, in fact, apply and wikipedia is already out of date on this matter).

A major installation of this particular nature was in place at the AT&T NOC located in San Diego and was designed for the expressed purposes of intercepting and recording both voice and data, analyzing it and forwarding the results to a government agency in real time. similar such installations are in place at other major providers of such services across the US.

and before you ask me where I come by my info: don't. I am not allowed to tell you. you will have to search out that info for yourself (good places to start are arstechnica.com and www.theinquirer.net).

here's a quote for you:
"The national standard for ISP data, finalized only in March of this year, is the ATIS LAES standard. For ISPs outside the U.S., the European Telecommunications Standards Institute (ETSI) has published standards 102.232, 102.233, and 102.234."

note, this states ISP data (and news providers are conssidered to be ISP's under the new rules effective June 01, 2007).

heh. you can go on the info presented there (as incomplete as it is) or you can stop being a sheep and start finding out what is for real.
>
> Sorry, Eric, you're not frightening anyone. Stop telling tall tales.
do a google search then.

I'll tell you this, the work I do puts me in contact with people and information that most of the general public doesn't have. I work with people that have far more information available to them than the general public does. These people know a lot more than I do and have corrected my "misconceptions" about reality (misconceptions you still seem to have).

think about that while you are creatively trying to figure out how to attempt to discredit me again, or... search out the truth for yourself. either way, don't bother me about it.

Yes. Please, by all means run down tot he Houghton County Sheriff's office and let him know that people on the internet conspired to remove all Element 4 Test material from web sites to prevent you from passing the Element 4 examination.

Better yet, print off my posting and give it to him, so he can call me in for questioning.

Only applies to surfing habits and email addresses; not to content.
In fact, another court has found that email enjoys all of the protections of law afforded to surface mail, and has found that the government must obtain a warrant to examine email contents.

"The appeals court decision does not affect another lawsuit still pending in California, in which the Electronic Frontier Foundation has sued AT&T Inc., which allegedly participated in the NSA program." - Computerworld.

At this point, I'm wondering if you see a conspiracy around every corner.

The items you cited are far less ominous when you actually read the articles. For my part, I never passively expect privacy in my email, even though the courts have recently assured its expectation. Instead, I encrypt it with PGP. If I really become paranoid about AT&T or government snooping, I use TOR (the onion router) -- an end to end encrypted chain of routers -- to make my internet connections. The German government hates TOR and is attempting to outlaw it in Germany. That's recommendation enough for me.

you can "narrow? that view, but given recent documented releases of information (per an ACLU lawsuit) it seems the government won't (and theirs is the only viewpoint that counts just now).

sorry man, but you are on the losing side of this one and it is no longer

Sam was traveling through Canada on vacation when he lost his wallet and all of his identification. He cut the trip short and was stopped by a US Customs Agent at the border.

Agent: "May I see your identification, please?"

Sam replied: "I'm sorry, but I lost my wallet."

Agent: "Sure buddy, I hear that every day. No ID, no crossing the border ."

Sam: "But I can prove that I'm an American! I have a tattoo of Ronald Reagan on one butt cheek and a tattoo of George Bush on the other."

Agent: "This I gotta see." With that, Sam dropped his pants and bent over in front of the agent.

Agent: "By golly you're right, go on home to Chassell."

Sam said: "Thanks, but what makes you think I'm from Chassell?"

Agent: "I recognized the picture of Mark Morgan in the middle."

You tell me? You must have talked about it first, or how would I know of your claim of rape.

Of course you won't admit that you talked about it first...damn I must be a mind reader. Nevertheless, you tale of alleged rape is all BULLSHIT anyway.

Without re-reading it I don't know Not-Roger

but there is a soultion, Folks I can tell you how to make Mark go away and NEVER BOTHER YOU AGAIN!!!!!

It's called a Kill-file or Kill-Filter. You simply put Mark in your kill file, If EVERYONE puts Mark in their kill files then he can post anything and everything he wants, he can post 100 acid posts today on any and every subject and ... You won't see them.

But what is more YOU WON'T RESPOND TO THEM. and I find that bullies (And if his stated purpose is to disrupt this NG then he is no better than a school yard bully) Bullies, go away if there is no response.

True story, 3 school yard bullies ganged up on their victim some years ago. The victim was backed up against a brick wall, The bullies were in front and to either side so there was no escape. The front bully lowered his head and charged. The victim side steped and the bully got his hands up and slapped the wall, kind of hard. Then they came in from first one side, then the other, Steping forward allowed them to stumble past no harm done. Then they got the bright idea to all 3 come in at once. They figured if their victim steped forward, or to either side, they still would get him... I took the diagonal and when they suddenly found I was not there and had a meeting of the minds, their combined IQ was enough to convince them that continuing the fight was .... Painful.

NOTE: they never touched me, nor I them so I did nobody went to the principle's office either.

As I said, True story. I should know. I was there... I'm the only one who left without a headache though (Very Evil Grin)

Nothing like hitting your attacher over the head with a brick wall.

Unfortunately, this rarely works. Mork changes his email address often enough that you virtually have to update your kill file daily.

Then you have the plethora of idiots who taunt him likewise doing the same.

Mork is singlehandedly responsible for the destruction of .policy, and is the principle reason why the .moderated group was created.

Unfortunately, when someone like Mork has severe psychological issues, there is little you can do to resolve the problem. About the only thing you can do is collect posting statistics and constantly forward those statistics to abuse@his-isp.com, and hope they'll take corrective action on their end.

John, I wish that was true, its been done and has failed. You see or may not see, that Mark is not satisfied with only posting his slanderous lies here, but he also stalks other usenet posters by visiting their blogs, including mine, and leaving vile sexual filled messages composed of filthy text, even though he has been asked not to do so. He also visits other boards to harasss other hams, including Roger Wiseman in search of attention to further his gay jihad and to ram his delusional lies down our throats. The guy is such a lowlife piece of crap, that he actually taunted another ham when his daughter died, and continues to do so by using her name as a posting sock (M...@TayleorRobesin.org). After years of Mark Morgan's bullshit and outlandish claims, there are those who have decided to make a stand.
I agree that on the surface it may appear to be bullyish and perhaps even foolish, but Mark Morgan is just getting in return the poison that he has spewed on to the net over the past several years.
Therefore, I ask and encourage that you also add me to your kill file/filter and you won't see anymore of my posts. Unlike Mark Morgan, I don't maintain multiple socks, I only have this one pseudonym so you only need to kill file me once. 73

This was readily apparent to many of us in the mid 90's, when Mork first showed up on USENET proudly proclaiming to be a gay dyslexic pagan ham who served in the Chemical Corps despite the fact the government wouldn't let him resign.

One does have to call into question the mental stability of someone who can find the time to repeatedly post hundreds of the same message, day in and day out. I don't know about you, but I simply don't have that much free time on my hands.

Clearly, Mork's psychiatrist needs to up the dosage of his Fluoxetine. I haven't seen such a severe case of OCD in years. Coupled with paranoia, delusions, and a host of other symptoms -- he could be an interesting case study for an entire psychiatric institution.

Unfortunately, that isn't very likely to happen. There are way too many access methods the public can use to post USENET messages. Even if you were successful in climbing the corporate ladder at Hughes and got someone to listen to you regarding the flood of spam from Chassel, Mork could simply continue to use Hughes as an ISP and inject his spam via another method (i.e. google, etc.).

funny it takes less time than you took to post this one message I am certain

even if I were posting hunderds

also you have had the time to stlak me yourself for years MD

get a life

The campaign to bother users of alt.satellite.direcpc (none of whom have anything to do with Hughes, and most certainly have no influence with Hughes even to solve their own problems with the system) is an odd one.

Beyond that, tThe quoted post appears to assume that Hughes has some internal NNTP posting server that is being used, but Hughes dropped their server 5 years ago. Examining the headers of the couple of cross-posts originated by the offending party fails to show any obvious Hughes connection - what are you folks using for your logic?

In any case, ISPs will rarely respond to abuse when the abuse took place on a third-party server, which is ALWAYS the case for a Hughes user. All abuse reports should be directed to the news server operator, although the post above is correct that there is nothing to stop the offender from simply changing servers.

Just remember, the server is never Hughes, because such servers do not exist.

No Mark, stop your lying you talked about you alleged rape first, just like you and your wife blab your personal business all over the net. I don't need to invent anything because you provide plenty of information about yourself out of your big fat mouth. You and Gav both have a case of diarreah of the mouth. If you would keep your mouth shut about your personal affairs, stay on topic and stop trying to play the "victum/hero" with your outlandish tall tales, while in the process of harrassing the posters on Usenet with your crossposting spam attacks you would be a lot better off. When are you going to take responsiblity for your behavior. You launched the first shot, and now you've been on a six month whine about the response. You asked for it now deal with it. When your ready to act like an adult and not a pervert or use the death of a child as a weapon maybe we can talk about ham radio topics.

You have failed to address what it is that makes you sure the offending info is coming via a Hughes connection? And the ancillary question of how the disruption by you folks of a different newsgroup is somehow justified?

If I have a beef with the ARRL, would spamming your group be appropriate, justified, appreciated, and likely to do something positive?

Mark, nobody cares about your sexual proclivities, yet here YOU go again talking about sex on a NG. Why do you keep posting about sex?
Nevertheless, why don't you speak the truth, that the real issue here is that you think you have a right to say whatever you want on a NG and your blog, but when someone else does so, you flip out and go on a spamming tirade about whatever was said. Then when you are criticized for spamming, you whine more that its all related to you sexual preferences or some other kooky reason that your dream up.

Take note that he stopped using the name of Steve's beloved and deceased daughter when Mark Morgan was exposed on the direcpc newsgroup.
Quite obviously Markie IS worried about the direcpc group thinks of his spam and of his cruelty.

I didn't write the post to which you responded, UnWiseman. Polish your Boy Defective badge and look for some clues. I was in California when the post was made.

If we look at the Boy Defective's words below, we find that he believes I've made the post to which he responded. I didn't write it and I was at the Fillmore in San Francisco enjoying a concert at 10:56 PM when it was posted. You might want to go over those Boy Defective lessons again.

hey OM,
I know you are trying to make a point here (and I applaud your efforts at least). However, you really do need to learn to proof your work before posting. It would lend a bit more credibility to your words (presentation is, after all, everything in a debate).

I don't mean to come off as a "netKopp" but you do have some issues you need to get square before you continue.

Anyway, keep pressing those buttons.

It is rather amusing to see the others in here squirm a bit.

Oh yeah, and as a followup....

The rest of you idiots pay attention...

I have noticed one thing of late... Whenever he (n7zzt) makes a valid point (or manages to get under your collective skins), you post this "sex posting" as a distraction from the real discussion at hand.

However, such postings (given the nature of such) can be construed as defamatory and libelous in their nature. In other words, they are very actionable.

Now, as a Network Admin for a fairly large organization, such repeated harassment on your parts would not only get you blacklisted, but the source ISP's might even be willing to supply documents to the "victim" should he request them (through a valid court order of course). This would tend to make the life of the "cyber bully" a bit less comfortable (for fairly obvious reasons).

Contrary to popular belief, the internet is not a very anonymous place. Even these so-called anonymous news servers and mail-to-news gateways may be monitored by their upstream, or forced under federal laws (in the US and in some European countries) to provide logs. Anyone with a fair amount of knowledge, and some practical experience can tell you that tracking such data back to its source may be difficult, but it is by no means, impossible.

Now, the way I perceive this, you may continue your actions, or you may wise up and shut up. If you take the latter, then bully for you (as you have grown a brain and perhaps now know better). If not, well, I am certain the government will do its best to take care of you in your declining years (considering that any assets you may have had were repossessed after some civil action).

Anyway, the point is this: watch what you say on here. it can be used against you later.

Well, daily updates of the kill file area easy and a good kill file offers the choice of "Ignore thread" (mine does, Thunderbird) so that takes care of the ones who do respond.

But EVERYBODY has to ignore him for him to go away.

I've seen NG's show like 27 posts till the filter ran, then it was 3

No, out of band Frenchmen to contact?
Why are you answering the comments to the "Not Roger" post, if you weren't him. Why would you care?

Molested by his priest daddy David Eric Heil doesn't know it all,
either.

Did you give Marti some ideass how to sell that cheap ugly jewelry

Mark, there is truth to my statement and I have copies of your vile posts nicely tucked away in archive. Nevertheless, John who would you report it to anyway that would result in any action. Unless you have evidence of cyber crimes against children or actual fraud, it is hard to get any action from anybody in authority.

> instead he just vists HIS own blogs

I only have one active blog (www.kb9rqz.blogspot.com) a captured blog. Mark, please stop making up tall tales again.

I never have posted any comments to my own blog. As you can see, Mark likes to make up the truth.

I never have had any contact with Hughesnet, waste of time to contact any ISP's.

Because Mark knows little about Amateur Radio but quite a lot about sex, especially perverted sex, so naturally he talks more about the topic he's most familiar with.

Where did I say that it was radio related? For once in your life why don't you prove the bull that you are spamming. I've prove what I say, by your own words post to RRAP. I will tell you what I said. I said that I posted the list to refute your claims of so many friends, that is exaclty what I said. You are nothing but a lier, thread jacker, and spammer and everyone sees right through your stupidity and bull.

the rest of us, that you are mental) of course shit insisting other people eat his shit is the act of a normal person to you

(No, more or less words of a person who is striking out because he

The bizarre thing about you Mark, is you say you have faith in America, a democracy. In a democracy majority rules, and the majority here says act right or leave, yet you don't respect democracy here.
So double sided, but consistent with you lying behavior.

Your behavior speaks loud and clear and won't shut up your critics.
The more you post the more we see into the demented mind of Mark Morgan. Actions speak louder than words.

have you any real point to make here?

also, I see no reason to post as a sock-puppet. my words are my own and I have no need to hide them from the likes of you.

It's been said before.

Bloggers are pretty well useless.

Comparing a blogger to a journalist is like comparing Django Reinhardt to a drunken busker on the street playing guitar.

Your comprehension is typical of a blogger. You accused me of being a gay basher and a bigot. People who I despise and I gave no indication to you that I was one of either in the first place, through comment or inference.

Up yours, asshole.

Comment on what I said, don't invent shit.

It appears that ALL of the VILLAGE IDIOTS that have been missing for some time have finally been found right here in our midst's:

an old fiend <mm@punce.org>
Mark@TayleorRobesin.org
transgender gav <gav@transgender.net>
Davey Vile K8MN SUX <davey_vile_k8mn_sux@yahoo.com>
Dloyd Lavies <DloydLavies@gmail.com>
FUBAR <no.one@no.where.com>
Hurdy Gurdy Man <mork.donovan@yahoo.com>
John in detroit <blank@blank.net>
Turdo Jo <glory@hole.com>

Its fun watching everyone talk and answer themselves - Its amazing that an EXTRA Class "HAM" operator would stoop so low as to write most of the CRAP HERE!

What's really fun "Howard" is reading your whining hypocritical posts calling someone an idiot, or perhaps we should take this on-the-air?
Why don't you tell us your favorite net frequencies, I'll show up with

The use of midst as a plural as you have done is rather odd. Since "our" as in "our midst" already denotes a plural, (as in a) why pluralize midst?
Kinda like saying "usn's houses".....

3905...Bwahahahah! You don't need to say anymore. Howard, you just explained yourself.

How about 3685? Oh that's right, you transmit there since you only have your General, so sorry.

No, you try to make it an issue because you want to know information, such as my call sign, for what only you know. Nevertheless, you are somehow under the misconception that you matter. Other than your constant spamming, you don't, so get over it.

What name did I call you? I made a statement. If you don't like my opinion, that's fine, but it doesn't make it a lie or name calling.
Nonetheless, I have nothing to fear, other than I don't want the hassel of your and others spam, that is my sole reason for not posting my real call/name and email address. I used to use my real info but I grew tired of all the spam that orginated from Usenet posters such as yourself.

No bullshit, if he truly did the things that you say, then I believe that he crossed the line. The problem is I don't believe a damn thing you say. You may not believe this, but sir, you have a real credibility problem with the group.

How have I stalked you? Being critical of you, reposting information available on the net, posting on usenet in response to your crap posts, posting under any available name, and freely registering a blog is not stalking. I have not persued you beyond RRAP, Blogger, or Nim.

You are a liar, you are trying to bully and blackmail me to give up MY freely registered domain name, well it is not going to happen under these circumstances.

Of course he is a POS. Nothing but...I've not posted here regularly for several months now so NOW Morkie pulls out all the nyms of my daughter's name. Stalking pure and simple.

> interesting then that you don't have a problem with that same Ham

You've taken no action except to SPAM USENET, lie about who and what you are, and generally just act like a fool.

No one has falsely accused you of child abuse, elder abuse, or threatened to murder you, Morkie. No one has been "harrasing every ham with email in the up", either. (Of course you carefully leave out how YOU sent copies of RRAP posts to Civil Air Patrol officers in an effort to create trouble for me...It backfired on you, of course, and we all still ahve a laugh at your expense on occassion....)

My absense from this forum is strictly about having a real life, and you're just the butt of it that everyone makes fun of.

But shortly you won't be laughing.

See ya....

Mark posts that lame sig line because he thinks it is witty and insightful, things that Mark is not.

Please forgive Mark, for he is not "all there", if you get the drift.

I, Mark Morgan of Chassell, Michigan, Hughes subscriber, have made 675 pointless posts to rec.radio.amateur.misc in the last five days. That is 135 posts a day to one newsgroup alone.

And you don't know about the other groups I have flamed.

Hughes won't do anything about it either, because they are so short of working capital that they need me and every subscriber they can get.

You ain't seen nothing yet.

In the 1920's a radio station in Schenectady, NY built a powerful transmitter. In those days before FCC regulations, not knowing just how big to make a transmitter in order for the signal to be received some distance away, the station set up to broadcast at 500,000 watts. It requires about one watt to be received four blocks away. This station broadcast at such tremendous power that they could be heard around the world. People in New York didn't even need radios. They could sometimes hear voices in their furnaces and coming off chain-link fences. Light bulbs lit up in people's houses even if they were switched off. - from www.odd-info.com

I Bisexual pagan jew ham(tend to be a a bit more sub than Dom) who has experenced both sub and Dom with other Males, but has only been Dom with women, and would really like to try Femdom. Employed but not flush enough to make a ProDom my first choice. i will not deal with solid waste but i think every thing
thing else is possible (i hedge because as soon as i think I have heard it all someone seems to come up with something new) Things i diffinently like are body worship, hot wax, bondage, spanking. i have done and enoyed with people really into them watersports, lite bloodlicking (i knew a girl into Vampires ok?) these are things i likely to enjoy if they trun someone on, but fall flat if the other party(s) aren't real into them, in that vein i will consider and may well get into something i if it really turns you on.

"I'm not a professional, I'm an artist."

"Your Usenet blinders are my best friend."

"Usenet Filters - Learn to shut yourself the fuck up!"

"Drugs killed Jesus you know...oh wait, no, that was the Jews, my bad."

"There are clingy things in the grass...burrs 'n such...mmmm..."

"The more I learn the more I'm killing my idols."

"Is it wrong to incur and then use the hate ridden, vengeful stupidity of complete strangers in random Usenet froups to further my art?"

"Freedom is only a concept, like race it's merely a social construct that doesn't really exist outside of your ability to convince others of its relevancy."

"Next time slow up a lil, then maybe you won't jump the gun and start creamin yer panties before it's time to pop the champagne proper."

"Reality is directly proportionate to how creative you are."

"People are pretty fucking high on themselves if they think that they're just born with a soul. snicker...yeah, like they're just givin em out for free."

"Quible, quible said the Hare. Quite a lot of quibling...everywhere. So the Hare took a long stare and decided at best, to leave the rest, to their merry little mess."

"There's a difference between 'bad' and 'so earth shatteringly horrible it makes the angels scream in terror as they violently rip their heads off, their blood spraying into the faces of a thousand sweet innocent horrified children, who will forever have the terrible images burned into their tiny little minds'."

"How sad that you're such a poor judge of style that you can't even properly gauge the artistic worth of your own efforts."

"Those who record history are those who control history."

"I am the living embodiment of hell itself in all its tormentive rage, endless suffering, unfathomable pain and unending horror...but you don't get sent to me...I come for you."

"Ideally in a fight I'd want a BGM-109A with a W80 250 kiloton tactical thermonuclear fusion based war head."

"Tell me, would you describe yourself more as a process or a function?"

"Apparently this group has got the market cornered on stupid. Intelligence is down 137 points across the board and the forecast indicates an increase in Webtv users."

Hatter Quotes

"You're only one of the best if you're striving to become one of the best."

"I didn't make reality, Sunshine, I just verbally bitch slapped you with it."

"I'm not a professional, I'm an artist."

"Your Usenet blinders are my best friend."

"Usenet Filters - Learn to shut yourself the fuck up!"

"Drugs killed Jesus you know...oh wait, no, that was the Jews, my bad."

"There are clingy things in the grass...burrs 'n such...mmmm..."

"The more I learn the more I'm killing my idols."

"Is it wrong to incur and then use the hate ridden, vengeful stupidity of complete strangers in random Usenet froups to further my art?"

"Freedom is only a concept, like race it's merely a social construct that doesn't really exist outside of your ability to convince others of its relevancy."

"Next time slow up a lil, then maybe you won't jump the gun and start creamin yer panties before it's time to pop the champagne proper."

"Reality is directly proportionate to how creative you are."

"People are pretty fucking high on themselves if they think that they're just born with a soul. snicker...yeah, like they're just givin em out for free."

"Quible, quible said the Hare. Quite a lot of quibling...everywhere. So the Hare took a long stare and decided at best, to leave the rest, to their merry little mess."

"There's a difference between 'bad' and 'so earth shatteringly horrible it makes the angels scream in terror as they violently rip their heads off, their blood spraying into the faces of a thousand sweet innocent horrified children, who will forever have the terrible images burned into their tiny little minds'."

"How sad that you're such a poor judge of style that you can't even properly gauge the artistic worth of your own efforts."

"Those who record history are those who control history."

"I am the living embodiment of hell itself in all its tormentive rage, endless suffering, unfathomable pain and unending horror...but you don't get sent to me...I come for you."

"Ideally in a fight I'd want a BGM-109A with a W80 250 kiloton tactical thermonuclear fusion based war head."

"Tell me, would you describe yourself more as a process or a function?"

"Apparently this group has got the market cornered on stupid. Intelligence is down 137 points across the board and the forecast indicates an increase in Webtv users."

"Is my .sig delimiter broken? Really? You're sure? Awww, gee...that's too bad...for YOU!" `,)

I just received the subject unit and I have to say, I don't have a very favorable impression of the build quality of this product. The knobs and switches are all slightly offset toward the top of the unit's faceplate, to the point where one of the knobs (the squelch butoon) doesn't turn freely for about 60% of the available arch.

ï¿œï¿œ So, here's my question: is there a brand out there that actually takes some pride in the build quality of their units?

I'm sure that Unidens are a trusted workhorse of the industry and all that, but I'd rather pay $200+ for another brand if I can be assured that it is well made.

Any recommendations?

Thanks.

PS - I should own up to being a bit of a perfectionist (a la some more-than-neglegible obsessive compulsive tendencies). So, part of my reason for posting this is to get some feedback... like a sanity check.
Perhaps the answer is something like "what you have (PC78...) is about as good as it gets in the word of CB radio build quality; so learn to live with it!" If this is the case, I guess the sooner I find that out, the better.

PPS - In light of the above (PS) paragraph, do you think it's a waste of time to return the unit in question, expecting something better? Thanks again for any help.

Wiseman has no such designation, fatty Davies (but you have it by your family name), and we all know the only reason you, N0VFP, is a 33 year old virgin is because you are a cocksucker.
The fact that Mark Morgan, KB9RQZ, IS a jewish cocksucker is by his Mark is incapable of posting anything intelligent. He has severe emotional and psychological issues. He has been a fixture in this newsgroup since the mid 90's, and it was apparent even back then that he was deeply disturbed. Perhaps this is due to some exposure to secret government compounds when he was drafted into the Chemical Corps and not allowed to retire as a Lt. Col. We will never really know for sure, as these records were sealed under the Federal Bi Pagan Ham Protection Act.

Your best approach to dealing with him is to laugh at him (and his numerous spelling/grammatical errors) for comic relief.

(watch... like Pavlov's dog, he will be compelled to respond to this message)

Maybe you'd rather be getting to trying to self-fellate.
Marqueer Morgan reveals his self-fellatio fetish!

Looks like there is no depths of depravity and perversion too low for Marqueer. Last night on the NIM Busters board Marqueer revealed he would like to suck himself off. Naturally, he was the subject of much ridicule but Marqueer seemed almost proud of the fact he revealed this sick thought in public.

How it started:http://nimbusters.org/forum/read.php?board=1&id=317253"Mark gives himself blowjobs for his treatment"
Mark replied in http://nimbusters.org/forum/read.php?board=1&id=317258"I wish I could"
Marqueer kept repeating his fetish, almost proud of it:
http://nimbusters.org/forum/read.php?board=1&id=317449".... from asimple factI wish i could suck my own cock"
http://nimbusters.org/forum/read.php?board=1&id=317530"... the facts i would like to suck myself"

Just HOW does a No-Code General licensee make a two meter antenna "work" on 75 meters?

Better educated Hams want to know how a blithering idiot can make such a claim.

Omitting, of course, the possibility that the uneducated idiot tried to use an antenna tuner to run 75M from a small 2M antenna....

Idiots abound, and the new No-Coders are proof positive of that.

HEY JERK - If you are going to QUOTE something our forefathers said - you should quote it correctly:

"I have come to the conclusion, that one useless man is a disgrace, two are a law firm and three are called a congress?" John Adams in the play 1776."

man, is that all the better you can do? a forged post (again, this is so old)? a 'personal insult'? C'mon man, you can do better than that (or can you?)!

In the space of just over a month, there have been close to 100 posts from 3 or 4 morphs of the duff cunt up there now calling himself Mark@TayleorRobesin.org, and every single fucking post says the exact same thing, without change.

Busted Urinal Award
The reward for the Lamest of the Lame on Usenet. One who clogs and stinks up the joint like a busted urinal, you could say.

I hereby nominate Mark@TayleorRobesin.org for the AUK Busted Urinal Award.

Yawn.

Sounds like the same shit happens all over the world on CB Radio!

I remember that shit happening 20 or more years ago here in Melbourne Australia.

Mark should 'gte' a job and become a productive member of Society. As he stands now, Mark lives in a less than clean hovel while spending his Daddy's disability payments.
Why work? Heck, Mark is all too happy to sit in his arse and live off the few monthly dollars his Daddy provides.

Mark's personal life is a disgrace. And what does he do? He takes up with another Bisexual misfit who herself cannot fit into mainstream America. The two of them live in a fantasy land of their own making and neither of them have so much as an inkling of an idea of what Real LIfe is all about. In fact, Mark's gooney wife refuses to live with him and his disabled father, opting instead to live in her own apartment.
Oh, my. What a loving relationship that is!

If you guys have a minute or two, say a prayer for Mark. Yeah...he won't accept prayers from Christians because he is a self-professed Pagan, Bisexual, Jewish Amateur Radio operator.
Of course that self-described depiction is likely to change at any moment since Mark is a congenital liar and Newsgroup Buffoon...

Mark and Gav are allegedly happy and in love. Trouble is that Mark would rather have sex with boys while Gav, bisexual Gav, prefers women to Mark.
I wish them both well. Here's hoping that neither of them test positive for AIDS.

Forgive the nutcase. Mork is without shame and lacks even a modicum of common sense.
The guy is a Fruit.

Put yourself in his bisexual shoes if you can. And then spam the groups with 160 to 170 messages a day.
See??? Nobody likes you.

Why? The FBI will laugh at you for being a crybaby. If he were to use your callsign, it is not a federal crime. And the FCC? Lotsa luck there, too.

It would be much quicker for you to head up to 17366 River Road in Chassell, Michigan and punce him. Either that or you could call him at 1-602-889-8022.

FDA Press Release

This listserv covers mainly Class I (life-threatening) recalls. A complete listing of recalls can be found in the FDA Enforcement Report at: http://www.fda.gov/opacom/Enforce.html

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
July 21, 2007
Media Inquiries:

FDA Expands Its Warning about the Risk of Botulism Poisoning From Certain Castleberry Food Products and Dog Food
The U.S. Food and Drug Administration is expanding its July 18 warning to consumers. This expansion is for consumers and pet owners regarding canned food products and dog food produced by Castleberry Food Company of Augusta, Ga., due to the risk of botulinum toxin. Castleberry is expanding the recall to include all of the following canned products with all "best by" and code dates, and FDA is warning consumers not to purchase or eat any of the canned products listed in the table below.

Hot Dog Chili Sauces

Southern Style Dumplings with Gravy with Chicken and Vegetables
Dog Food
15 OZ
23633-59862

Hobo Chili with Chicken Pasta Dog Food
15 OZ
23633-59863

The agency is expanding its warning based in part on FDA test results and information obtained during a joint FDA and U.S. Department of Agriculture inspection of the Castleberry's facility in Augusta, Ga.

Exposure to botulinum toxin can be fatal and two people in Texas and two people in Indiana remain seriously ill and hospitalized with botulism poisoning associated with eating Castleberry's Hot Dog Chili Sauce.

While the previous recall and the known illnesses are linked to production dates of April 30 to May 22, 2007, the firm has extended the recall to include all products listed irrespective of "best by" date. The firm is cooperating with FDA in the recall of these products and has ceased processing and distribution.

In addition, Castleberry is recalling other products containing meat, which are regulated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. USDA is also warning the public not to eat certain brands of Castleberry products containing meat. The list of these USDA-regulated products can be viewed at this link to the USDA website:
http://www.fsis.usda.gov/News_&_Events/Recall_033_2007_Release/index.asp

Consumers who have any of these products or any foods made with these products should throw them away immediately. Double bag the cans in plastic bags that are tightly closed then place in a trash receptacle for non-recyclable trash outside of the home. Additional instructions for safe disposal can be found at www.cdc.gov/botulism/botulism_faq.htm

Retailers that have any of these products are asked to assure that they are removed from use and do not accidentally get reintroduced for sale, service or donation.

Symptoms of botulism poisoning in humans can begin from 6 hours to 2 weeks after eating food that contains the toxin. Symptoms may include double vision, blurred vision, drooping eyelids, slurred speech, difficulty swallowing, and muscle weakness that moves progressively down the body, affecting the shoulders first then descending to the upper arms, lower arms, thighs, calves, etc. Botulism poisoning can also cause paralysis of the breathing muscles which can result in death unless assistance with breathing (mechanical ventilation) is provided. Individuals who show these symptoms and who may have recently eaten one of the Castleberry's products currently under recall should seek immediate medical attention.

The disease has only been seen occasionally in dogs and has not been reported in cats. Ferrets are highly susceptible to botulinum toxin. The incubation period can be 2 hours to 2 weeks; in most cases, the symptoms appear after 12 to 24 hours. Botulism is characterized by progressive motor paralysis. Typical clinical signs may include muscle paralysis, difficulty breathing, chewing and swallowing, visual disturbances and generalized weakness may also occur. Death usually results from paralysis of the respiratory or cardiac muscles. Pet owners who have used these products and whose pets have these symptoms should contact their veterinarian immediately. At this time we are not aware of pet illnesses associated with these products although we recommend that all these products should be discarded.

Castleberry recommends consumers with any questions or concerns about this recall should go to Castleberry's website (www.castleberrys.com) or call Castleberry's consumer hotline at 1-800-203-4412 or 1-888-203-8446.

Consumers with questions can call FDA at 1-888-SAFEFOOD.

the kookery of your stalker "Woger".

The URL of the blog up there, along with the username "Mark," the uncapitalized and unpunctuated text, and the crossposts to groups related to amateur radio and homosexuality all suggest that the person in question is Mark Morgan. However, the initial G suggests that it's really his partner Gav that's making the post. The preponderance of evidence suggests Mark. So, "G", are you Mark or Gav?

If it's Mark, then it's the same kind of behavior that earned him a Golden Killfile from AUK and a Thick as a Brick from AFA-B.

You have a second from his stalker "Woger" AKA an old fiend, but I'm not sure I'll accept one from him. He's been nominated for (but never won) several kook awards in his own right, so his nominations and seconds are suspect.

Recall -- Firm Press Release

FDA posts press releases and other notices of recalls and market withdrawals from the firms involved as a service to consumers, the media, and other interested parties. FDA does not endorse either the product or the company. This listserv covers mainly Class I (life-threatening) recalls. A complete listing of recalls can be found in the FDA Enforcement Report at: http://www.fda.gov/opacom/Enforce.html

Castleberry's Expands Voluntary Recall of Hot Dog Chili Sauce and Canned Meat Products
Contact:
Doug McGraw, Fleishman-Hillard
(212) 453-2202

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE --AUGUSTA, Ga. - July 21, 2007 - Castleberry's Food Company today announced that it is taking extra steps to ensure public safety by voluntarily expanding its recall originally announced on July 18 due to the risk ofbotulinum toxin, a bacterium which can cause botulism.

Botulism can cause the following symptoms: general weakness, dizziness, double-vision and trouble with speaking or swallowing. Difficulty in breathing, weakness of other muscles, abdominal distension and constipation may also be common symptoms. People experiencing these problems should seek immediate medical attention.

The recall originally announced on July 18 affected only 10 products with 'best by' dates from APR30 2009 through MAY22 2009. The extended recall now includes the following canned products in the following sizes with all 'best by' and code dates:

a.. Austex Onion Hot Dog Chili Sauce, 10 oz can (UPC 3030097101)

In addition, the following canned Natural Balance brand pet food products, which Castleberry's co-packs for Natural Balance, are being recalled. These include:

a.. Natural Balance Eatables for Dogs Irish Stew With Beef, Potatoes & Carrots, 15 oz can (UPC 2363359860)
b.. Natural Balance Eatables for Dogs Chinese Take Out With Sauce With Vegetables and Chicken, 15 oz can (UPC 2363359861)
c.. Natural Balance Eatables for Dogs HOBO Chili With Chicken & Pasta, 15 oz can (UPC 2363359863)
d.. Natural Balance Eatables for Dogs Southern Style Dumplings With Chicken & Vegetables, 15 oz can (UPC 2363359862)
Consumers should not use these products even if they do not look or smell spoiled. Consumers with these products should dispose of them by double bagging in plastic bags that are tightly closed before being placed in a trash receptacle for non-recyclable trash outside of the home, according to the Food and Drug Administration. Additional instructions for safe disposal can be found at www.cdc.gov/botulism/botulism_faq.htm.

"There is nothing more important to us than the health of those who use our products every day," said Steve Mavity, SVP Technical Services/Quality Assurance for Castleberry's. "We are taking every step necessary, and are working hand in hand with health officials around the clock to ensure the safety of consumers."

Mavity said, "We believe we have isolated the issue to a situation of under-processing on one line of our production facility. As an extra precaution to the recall we announced on Wednesday, we have shut down this line altogether and are recalling all products produced on it."

Castleberry's is working with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to investigate possible contamination of these products.

Castleberry's was notified by the FDA of two confirmed botulism cases and two potential botulism cases involving individuals who ate Hot Dog Chili Sauce products. No new cases have been reported since the recall was announced on July 18.

There have been no reported illnesses linked to Natural Balance canned pet food, but Castleberry's recommends that all these products should be discarded. While botulism can affect some pets, dogs and cats are inherently resistant. The disease has only been seen occasionally in dogs and has not been reported in cats. Ferrets are highly susceptible to botulinum toxin. The incubation period can be two hours to two weeks; in most cases, the symptoms appear after 12 to 24 hours. Botulism is characterized by progressive motor paralysis. Typical clinical signs may include muscle paralysis, difficulty breathing, chewing and swallowing, visual disturbances and generalized weakness may also occur. Death usually results from paralysis of the respiratory or cardiac muscles. Pet owners who have used these products and whose pets have these symptoms should contact their veterinarian immediately.

Consumers with any questions should visit Castleberry's Web site (www.castleberrys.com). A toll-free hotline is also available for consumer questions at 1-800-203-4412 or 1-888-203-8446.

I had figured "an old fiend" was overly involved given that he suddenly showed up after a long abscence. I would support your non-acceptance of his second; he's a kook, IMBO.

Legend has it that the Kadaitcha Man is an Austrailian aboriginal medicineman\witchdoctor. He is greatly feared and purported to be endowed with great knowledge and power. They are only supposed to travel
at night with their feet covered in emu feathers. If the Kadaitcha Man is sent after someone they are sung to death and a bone is pointed at them. Once the offender knows he's been sung, he knows he's had it, sits

down, refuses food & drink, falls into a trance and dies.

An investigation into the legend by Professor Ludwig Mueller of the University of Stroble, in Berlin, shows that as usual in these cases
it is just a legend. Herein are outlined the legend and facts.

Legend: A Kadaitcha Man is an Australian aboriginal medicine man/witchdoctor.

Fact: The Kadaitcha Man is actually known in the aboriginal tribe as the "Village Bitch". When a tribal member's wife dies, the Kadaitcha Man sexually services the male tribe member for up to one year. A tribal law dictates the member may not marry until a full year has passed. Depending on the tribe members age and number of widowers in the village, this could be quite distressing and unhealthy for the Kadaitcha Man.

Legend: Kadaitcha Men are men of knowledge & power and are greatly feared.

Fact: They are greatly feared, but not because of their supposed knowledge and power. It has been found that if a tribe member loaned the Kadaitcha Man his hunting equipment (spear/bow and arrow/knife), their

was a very likely possibility that they would not be returned, and even if they were returned, they would not be in the same condition as they were.

Legend: They only travel at night. With his feet covered in emu feathers, it's impossible for experienced trackers to say from where he came & whence he went.

Fact: While it is true that they only travel at night with their feet covered with emu feathers there is a rational reason for this. Their feet are covered in emu feather so no one can hear them creeping around the village at all hours of the night doing their thing and actually because of what they do, that is all that they wear or have on.

Legend: If a Kadaitcha Man is sent after someone, the victim is sung to death & a bone is pointed at them.

Fact: Sometimes after their sexual encounters the Kadaitcha Man starts talking and the next morning the tribe member he will tell his fellow tribe members that "After I used the Kadaitcha Man last night, he talked me to death". A computer friend of mine once told me that In today's world the Kadaitcha Man would probably be a regular subscriber to an Internet newsgroup. As for the bone pointed at the victim, I will not go into that, and leave it to your own imagination.

Legend: Once the offender knows he's been sung, he knows he's had it, sits down, refuses food & drink, falls into a trance and dies.

Fact: In today's language this would be summed up be saying, he bored me
to death.

And their you have it. Another legend shot to hell.

>From K1TP BBS:

Billy Jack-W4LLI is a silent key. One of the original BARF members of 14313.....some will be sad and some (many) would be glad to piss on his grave.....I wonder how Dave-BHV (EVE) feels on this matter?

BILLY JACK MOORE, 83, of Memphis, passed away on June 29, 2007 at the Methodist North Hospital. Billy was retired from At&T after 35 years. He served in the Army Air Corps during WWII. He was a 33rd degree Mason with the Desoto Lodge #299.....no mention of the BARF (Better Amateur Radio Federation)

(it should also be noted that during the heyday of the 14.313 wars he was w4fqf's Polly Parrot's brain-dead QRM'ing partner, they would operate split one on 14.311 and the other on 14.315 to obliterate 14.313 - it's so comfy seeing these old 20 Meter QRM'ers dropping like flies today!)

Please, do NOT stare a Gift Horse in the mouth. The longer Mark remains absent from this group, the better off we all are.
I'll be darned if some of you Old Farts don't seem miss him...and why?

Leave him alone and hope he has gone away. Mark is busy on Nimbusters with the rest of the Sewer Posters. Please do not invite his crap back to this newsgroup.

Meanwhile, I am putting together a Vertical J antenna designed for 2M. There are tons of plans for these "j"s, so mine is no exception. I built mine from 3/4 inch square aluminum tubing (scrap) and was pleasantly surprised to find that it is very broad-banded. It is 1.1 at 146.00 and only 1.3 at 154.600.
I am aware that you Purists would prefer to build these "J"s using copper pipe, but this aluminum antenna works like a charm. Since I have a buddy who can weld aluminum, and with the measurements I gave him, the thing works very nicely indeed.
We also put one together for the 222 MHz band and it, too, works very well.
Trouble is that few around here use 220, most being No-Coders who tie up the repeaters with their CB style "I heard that, I did" stuff.

I can give measurements to anybody who may be interested.

Name and call withheld by design.

Good try, but no dice.
If you want to pass yourself off as Mark you are going to have to learn to make typo errors and act like a bisexual Dyslexic.

Mark, the real Mark, can't spell blackmail without at least two typo errors.

Hey! Neat! Not only can Mark not spell, but he doesn't know how to use the keyboard to use the word, "don't".
He wouldn't put the little apostrophe in don't.
So, you see? You can attempt to write at a second grade level while trying to emulate Mark, but only Mark can screw up as he does.
In short? If you wish to sound as stupid as Mark is, you'd better learn how to make no less than six grammatical errors and at least as many spellng errors in a seven word sentence.
A seven word sentence for Mark is pushing the limits, since after the first six words he forgets what he was writing about to begin with.

There were quite a few people who were seriously angered by my original comment but looking at it again I don't see it at all hurtful. I stand by my statement that homosexual lifestyles should not be promoted. I do not mean to say a Homosexual is bad. People can still do anything they want to do. It is a question of being discreet and mindful of others. As for the statement about killing things that are different I was actually speaking against that mentality not condoning it. The truth is that Homosexuals are just another group that politicians can exploit for their own benefit. For example states can make a bundle offf fees for all of those same-sex marraige licences. Which is why some people are glad to spread the idea of homosexuality as a political entity.
